The Executive Staff: Carol Leverich, editor; Pam Cler, typist; Mrs. Bauer, advisor.

Yearbook Staff

The yearbook is a senior class project with Mrs. Bauer acting as advisor. The staff is composed of juniors and seniors, one of the seniors serving as editor. At the beginning of the year the editor, the advisor, and a few other staff members attend a meeting at the University of Illinois where they see slides on preparing yearbooks. Choosing the yearbook cover and drawing the lay-out for the pages are only a few jobs the staff must complete.

The Staff: Standing: Patti Lee James, Linda Schmidt, Joy Behimer, Lenore Jarboe, Paul Ludwig, Terry James. Seated: Sandy Shafer.

Newspaper Staff

Our monthly edition of the TROJAN was started through the efforts of senior Terry James. School news, movie reviews, club reports, and an honors page are a few of the articles in the paper. This year the newspaper staff sponsored a stunt night the evening before Homecoming to build up school spirit.

Vic Irvin singing a solo in the Cumberland Fair.

"Take your sweater," says Nancy Ahlf to Lynn Blackford.

A portion of the ATHS band as they perform for their part of the concert.

Speech

"I don't know, I'm just givin' the speech!" Dave Henderson gives a demonstrative speech in Mrs. Sale's 3rd hour speech class. Each student also participates in debates, story-telling, group discussions, oral interpretations, and plays.

Driver Education

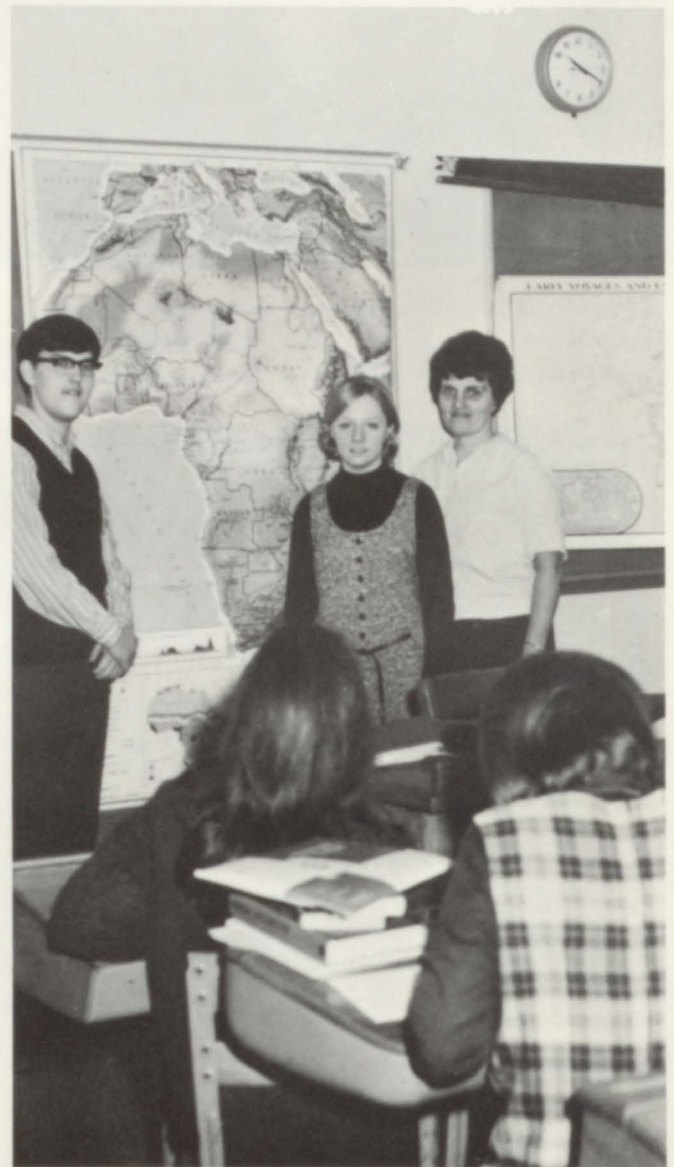

Mr. Hulfachor believes in "safety first". His driver education class consists of actual driving preceded by classroom study. The students drive in surrounding towns to get experience behind the wheel and to become safe drivers.

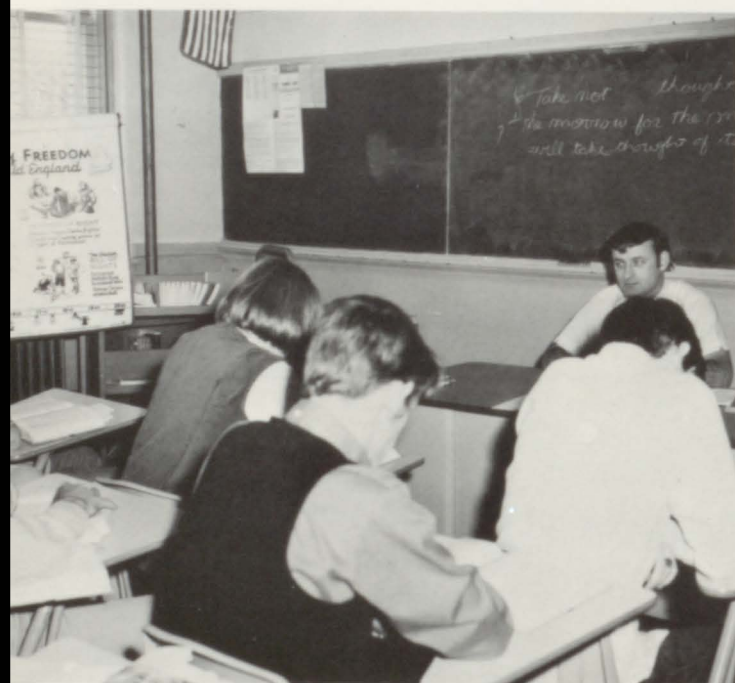

Social Studies

Ed Cler and Stan Wolfe discuss an important event after civics class.

Far-a-way places are made known to the students in Mrs. Tate's World History class.

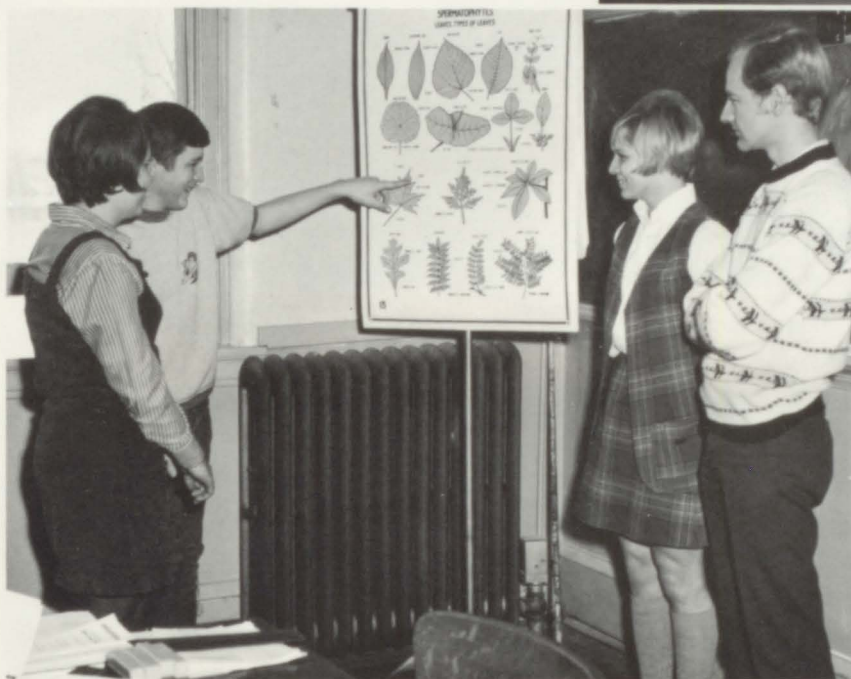

The juniors learn of our breakaway from England in American History.

Science

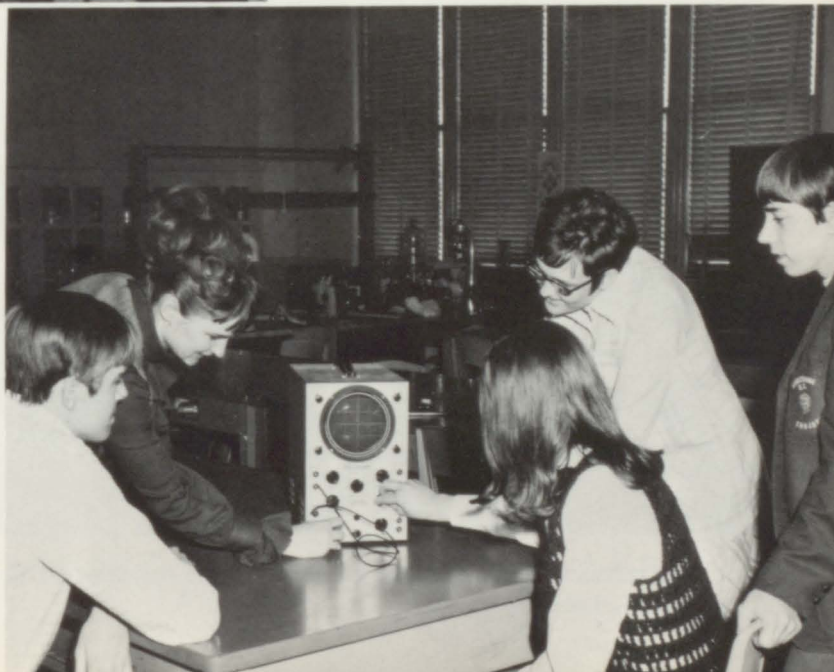

The Science Department at ATHS gives the students a better understanding of the world around them and provides a background for college work.

Filmstrips aid the students in their understanding of chemistry.

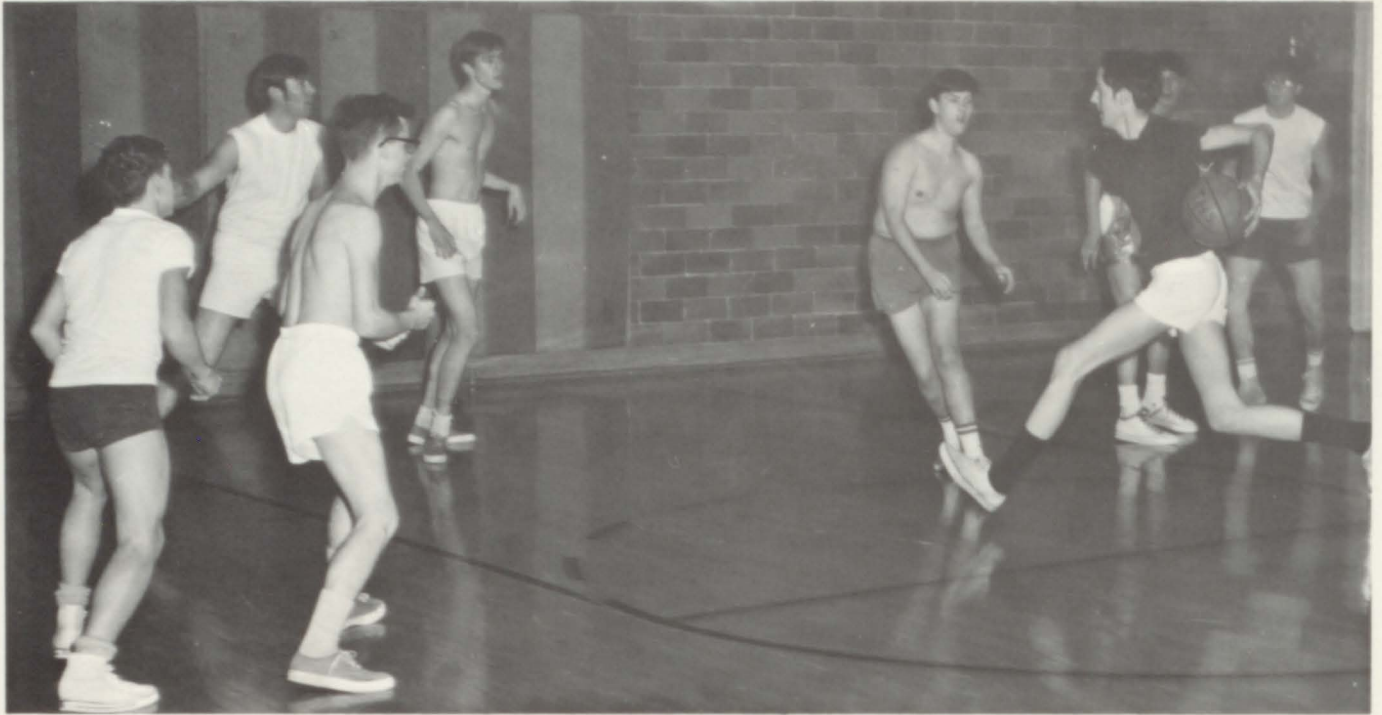

Biology class learns to identify different trees and plants as part of their course.

In physics, students work with an oscilloscope.

Physical Education Classes

In this basketball game speed is important as Terry James moves in to stop Dave Shafer.

Work on the balance beam improves gracefulness and coordination: Carol Ackerman demonstrates a front scale while Connie Ludwig does a knee scale.

Ray, Dennis, and Larry measure boards for use in their woodworking projects.

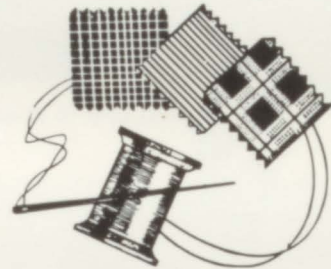

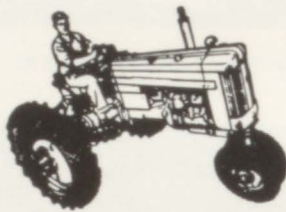

Mr. Stagen shows Denny Hittlet and friend how to mark a board for cutting.

Industrial Arts

The students of the industrial arts classes are taught how to draw blueprints, handle tools properly, and experiment in wood and metal working. The finished products are shown at the annual spring open house.

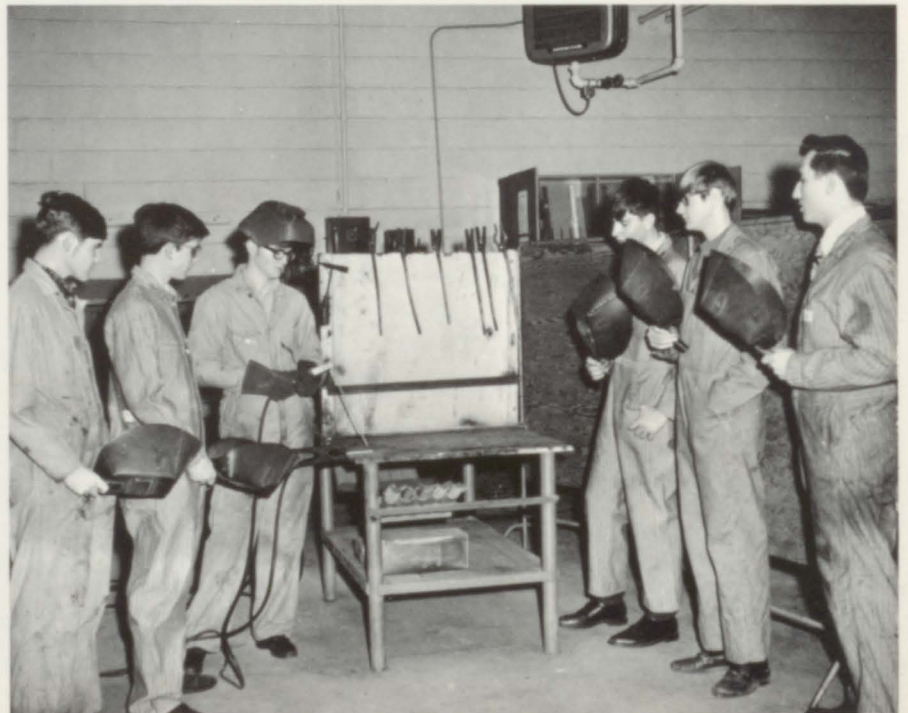

Home Ec

Alice and Jackie Wise ice a cake while Mrs. Lamb supervises. The purpose of the home economics classes is to teach future housewives the proper home-making techniques.

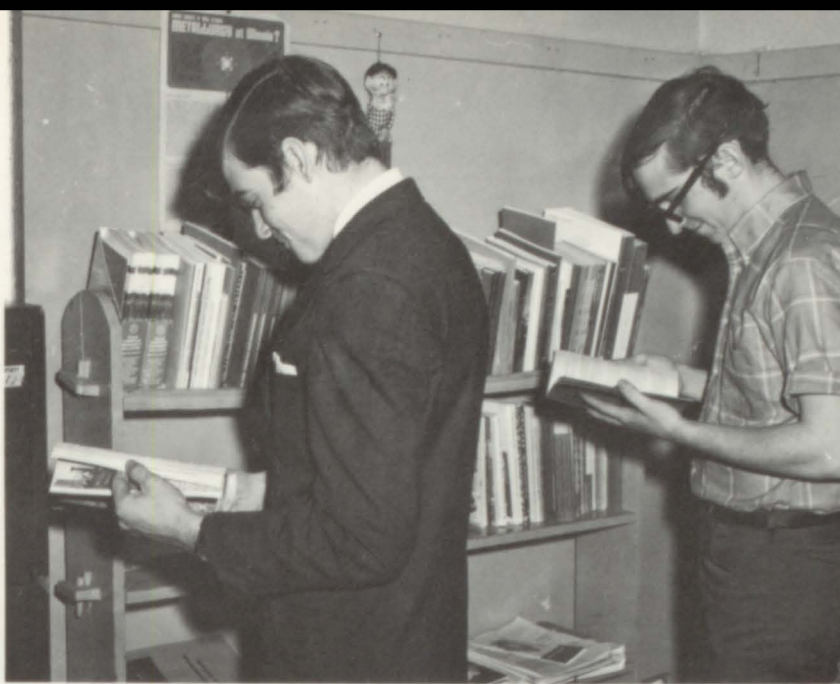

Ag

Paul Wise demonstrates welding to the rest of the class. Mr. Burkybile's ag classes give the students practical experience in welding and farming.

Guidance

Guidance is available to all students at ATHS. Mr. McCollem provides information concerning college choices, entrance qualifications, and represents students when problems occur.

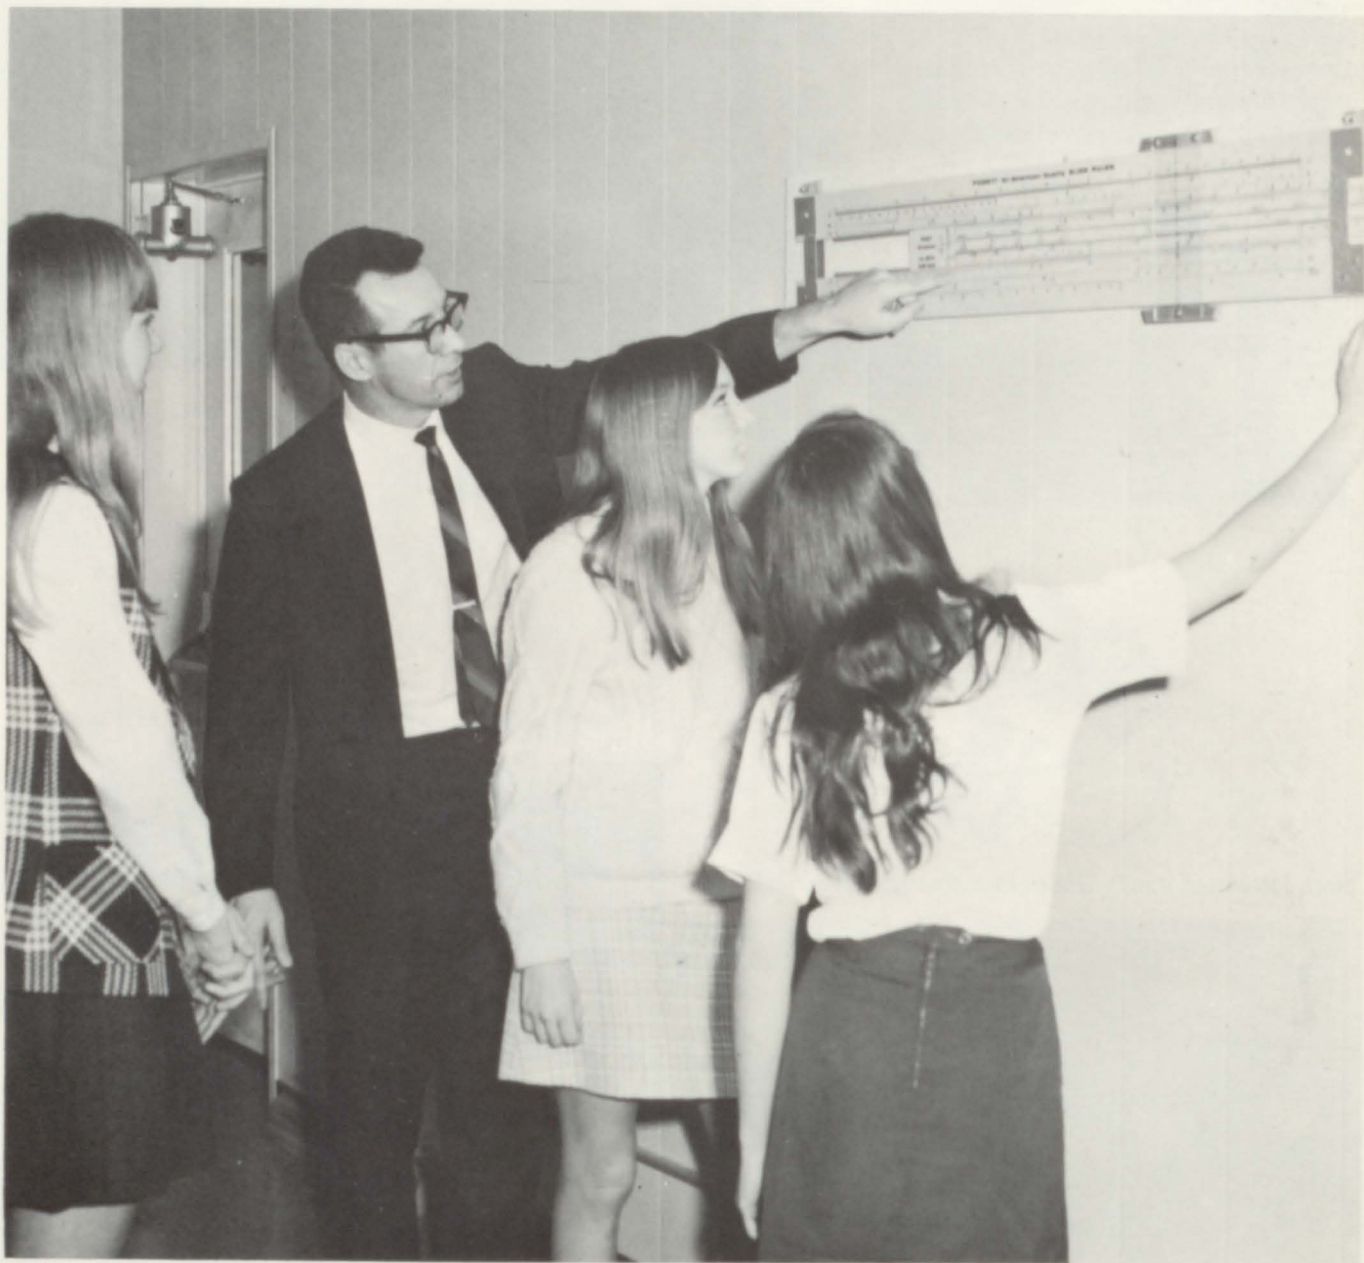

Mr. McCollem discusses college with junior, Bill Knight.

Mark James and Randy Duden look through college catalogs.

Math

Mr. Stuby shows some enterprising young students how to use a slide rule in Algebra I. Mr. Stuby also teaches Algebra II, Geometry, and Trigonometry while Mrs. Susan Johns teaches Algebra I and General Math.

Art

Students learn to appreciate art and develop their talents in Mrs. Bakken's 7th hour art class.

Jill Johnson and Donna Putnam work on their art projects while Mrs. Bakken supervises.

Larry Helfrich and Mike Camp are involved in the art of chalk drawing.

Patti Chesnut and Kathy Abernathy prepare to clean up after working on a color chart.

Business

The business courses at Armstrong include typing, shorthand, general business, and office practice. Students acquire the background they will need for jobs as well as personal use in these classes taught by Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Bauer.

First hour typing class works diligently while Mrs. Roberts supervises.

Karen King uses the Norelco transcribing machine which is part of the office practice class.

English Department

The English classes offer the students here at Armstrong a better understanding of the world around them. Learning to communicate with others and enjoy literature is also a part of the English program.

Mrs. Sale teaches Terry Cler how to use THE ELEMENTS OF STYLE.

Good Morning World! Sophomores awaken to the World of English.

Spanish

Spanish II listens to a tape of their dialogue. First and second year Spanish students learn to speak and understand the Spanish language. Spanish III and IV gives the students a chance to increase their vocabulary and read Spanish literature.

Nancy Ahlf provides the piano accompaniment for the chorus.

Music

The Music Department provided entertainment for the FHA Banquet and produced a spring concert called The Cumberland Fair. The band was directed by Mrs. McKnight, and the chorus by Mrs. Caldwell.

Mrs. McKnight shows Sandy Shafer the proper way to play.
